COUNCIL ASKED TO ADD TWO MEN TO POLICE FORCE

Action Is Recommended By Mayor's Advisory Committee

SOLONS DISCUSS PLAYLOT OUTLOOK

Consider Facilities Offered By Tract On West Side

The mayor's advisory board, a civic organization, in a letter to city council Tuesday night requested the addition of two more officers to the police department.

Charles Cornwall, president of council, to whom the letter was addressed, referred the matter to the safety committee for further consideration.

Committee's Letter

The request read: "At the May meeting of the mayor's advisory board, it was decided by this group, composed of the major civic organizations and also the official group of this city, that we wish to present a request in writing to city council, for the addition of two more officers in the police department.

"Having discussed the urgent need of additional police protection, we feel the City of Salem would be amply paid for any additional cost imposed, should this request be adopted."

The message was signed by the board secretary, Mrs. W. F. Bolen.

City council, upon a motion by A. P. Morris and George McArtor, granted the Pennsylvania railroad permission to list the Smith property which borders the railroad tracks as a factory site.

The railroad's real estate department had asked Councilman C. F. Zimmerman for permission to list the property, recently purchased by the city as a water field, among its other favorable industrial locations. The Smith property has a 3,200-foot frontage alongside the tracks.

Playlot Possibility

Other councilmen supported George McArtor's suggestion that part of the Smith property be turned into

City council at its meeting Tuesday night left relief administration duties in Mayor George Harroff's hands.

The mayor, who two weeks ago was instructed to act as administrator to the city's relief clients by the ward councilmen, was asked to continue his work in this capacity for two additional weeks.

When Mayor Harroff informed council he wasn't going to carry on with the extra work permanently, the ward councilmen, whose job it is to care for relief, promised the mayor definite action will be taken at the next meeting of council.

96 Are Examined at Pre-School Clinic

Ninety-six boys and girls who will enter the public schools for the first time next fall underwent a thorough physical examination during the pre-school clinic conducted Tuesday morning at the High school building.

The clinic was in charge of Miss Elizabeth Steer, school nurse; local physicians and dentists. The doctors donated their services.

Board of health authorities are making a detailed report of the clinic examinations.

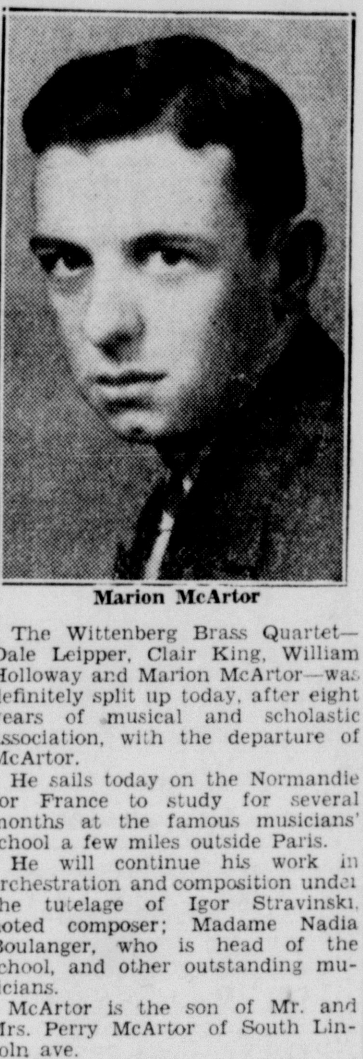
Brass Quartet At the Parting

McArtor Off to Europe; Two to Teach; Fourth A Life Guard



Marion McArtor

The Wittenberg Brass Quartet—Dale Leipper, Clair King, William Holloway and Marion McArtor—was definitely split up today, after eight years of musical and scholastic association, with the departure of McArtor.

He sails today on the Normandie for France to study for several months at the famous musicians' school a few miles outside Paris.

He will continue his work in orchestration and composition under the tutelage of Igor Stravinski, noted composer; Madame Nadia Boulanger, who is head of the school, and other outstanding musicians.

McArtor is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry McArtor of South Lincoln ave.

William Holloway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Holloway of Washington ave., and Clair King, son of Mr and Mrs. William King of East Sixth st., will teach at Wittenberg summer school, studying, at the same time, for their masters' degrees.

Dale Leipper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Leipper of East Sixth st., will be the only member of the group to spend the summer here. He will act as life guard at the Salem Country club during the summer season and return in the fall to Wittenberg, where he has been awarded a fellowship to enable him to carry on his studies for his master's degree.

STATE HIGHWAY MOVE RUMORED

Report Offices and Garage Will Be Taken To Leetonia

LISBON, June 16.—Unconfirmed reports today indicated the state highway department will move the county offices and garage from Lisbon to the old Y. & O. car barns at Leetonia sometime prior to July 1.

Department officials as well as the present owners of the car barns denied knowledge of the impending transaction following publication of the first reports several weeks ago. Highway officials confirmed it Tuesday afternoon, stating that the building had been leased by the state.

The car barn is owned by a group of men including County Commissioner Conrad Berg, Dr. Paul Beaver of Leetonia and I. Koch of Alliance. It was purchased following abandonment of the site and right of way by the Y. & O. and has been unoccupied for several years.

All state highway equipment will be moved to the new location which will be the headquarters of the entire staff including George Johnson, resident engineer. Mr. Johnson recently moved his offices from the People's Bank building to the present garage on East Washington st.

Woman Fined $100 On Liquor Charge

LISBON, June 16.—Mrs. Annie Spangelletto of McKinley ave., arrested Tuesday night on a charge of illegal possession of liquor, was fined $100 and costs when she pleaded guilty before Justice M. K. Zimmerman.

She was arrested by Deputies Mike Duty and Otto Stacey, Marshal Dalton Pike and Constable George Groves, who searched her house and found one pint of moonshine and one gallon of wine in a wash tub in the basement.

Her arrest followed that of Joe Rice, on a warrant signed by his wife, Carrie, who charged him with assault and battery, claiming he purchased liquor at Mrs. Spangelletto's house. Rice was bound over to the grand jury under $1,000 bond by the justice of the peace.

LEAGUE FINDS 100 "T. B." CASES REQUIRING CARE

More Than 756 In County Listed As Tuberculosis Contacts

FIVE FROM SALEM IN SANITORIUM

Six Clinics Are Planned As One Step In War On Disease

A preliminary survey conducted by the Columbiana County Public Health league throughout the county reveals a greater number of tuberculosis cases than had been expected, Delmar R. Serafy, executive secretary, announced today.

About 100 "T. B." cases were discovered which need hospitalization, besides 756 persons who have lived in intimate contact with active cases of tuberculosis.

List 178 Contacts Here

In Salem there are 18 persons who have had sanatorium treatment and now are well and able to work. One hundred and seventy-eight persons in Salem are classified as "contacts." Five other Salem tuberculosis sufferers are now in the sanatorium and several more should go for hospital treatment, Serafy added.

The survey was made, he explained, in an effort to discover the number of "T. B." cases in Columbiana county. The results were shocking, he said, adding:

"The discouraging fact revealed by the survey is that the abovementioned figures are by no means complete. There are many cases which have never been discovered and are today a constant source of infection to their families and their community."

As a result, the executive committee of the county public health league, with headquarters at Lisbon, will hold at least six tuberculosis clinics in the county, one to be conducted in Salem. Every effort will be made to discover new cases. The clinics will be financed out of funds derived from the sale of Christmas seals.

Cites Sanatorium Need

Secretary Serafy also said "with such a problem facing Columbiana county it becomes necessary for all of us to begin thinking seriously about the great need for a tuberculosis sanatorium."

The executive committee of the league, at a recent meeting in the office of George L. Lafferty at Lisbon, secretary and treasurer of the league, heard a similar report by Serafy.

At that time the committee decided to establish a county dispensary for tuberculosis supplies, providing sputum cups, paper handkerchiefs and tuberculosis handbooks to all nurses so that they will be able to distribute these supplies to all patients throughout the county.

"Flower Missions" Is W. C. T. U. Topic

An interesting program on "Flower Missions" was presented at a meeting of the W. C. T. U. Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. W. Kyle, South Lundy ave.

Mrs. Joanna Evans, evangelistic superintendent, led devotions while other members contributed various articles and short poems on topics of interest.

Seven new members were reported. Mrs. Joseph Warrington, president of the Damascus union, a guest at the session, gave a report of the recent world convention in Washington, D. C.

Friday will be W. C. T. U. day at the Great Lakes exposition in Cleveland, when special recognition will be accorded all members attending at that time.

Mrs. L. M. Kyes of East Palestine, president of the Columbiana county group, will give some highlights of the world convention at the county institute meeting at Winona, June 22. Plans were discussed for a county institute meet here in August. The affair will be held at Centennial park.

Flowers brought by members were given to patients in the city's hospitals and to other sick persons.

On July 1 the union will meet at the home of Mrs. J. R. Stratton, Eighth st.

Pomona Juveniles Hold First Outing

Columbiana County Pomona juveniles enjoyed their first annual picnic Saturday at Oak Grove park on Route 14, when 85 juvenile grange members and matrons attended. A dinner was served at noon, followed by games and contests.

The following won prizes: Charles Moff and Audrey Harrold; Lillian Burford and Henrietta Hilliard; Robert Lentz and Donald Rice; Mrs. Cecil King and Mrs. Eldon Grove.

Later in the afternoon the group went to Firestone park, Columbiana, for swimming.

Mrs. Homer Williams of Lisbon, former juvenile deputy matron, was a guest. Mrs. Mark Borton is county juvenile deputy.

Extra Police Are Mobilized For Film Wedding Tonight

Jeanette MacDonald To Be Bride of Gene Raymond at Lavish Church Wedding

Jeanette MacDonald

Gene Raymond

By Associated Press

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., June 16—Smiling but serious, Jeanette MacDonald refused today to disclose a single detail of arrangements for the wedding tonight which will make her the bride of Gene Raymond, yellow-haired movie actor.

"I'm superstitious," she said. "It's bad luck to tell those things."

She meant it. Officials at M-G-M studios, where the actress is under contract, said they didn't know. Her friends professed ignorance. The 11 bridal attendants said they were sworn to secrecy.

Hollywood knows it will be a lavish affair, the first big church wedding in the movie colony since that June day, 10 years ago, when Vilma Banky became Mrs. Rod LaRocque, and Beverly Hills police had to call out the reserves.

Los Angeles police know it will be hard to handle.

They ordered 100 officers to the Wilshire Methodist Episcopal church and prepared to re-route traffic on Wilshire boulevard, the biggest, busiest and most fashionable thoroughfare in the city.

They predicted there would be 10,000 uninvited "guests."

This would be more than twice the number waiting when Larocque and Miss Banky left the church, were shoved and manhandled, and lost bits of their costumes to souvenir hunters. Flowers were ripped away. The bridal party was separated, and a genuine, first-class riot ensued.

Since that time, virtually every Hollywood wedding has been private.

Miss MacDonald's is scheduled to start at 9 p. m. (midnight in Salem). Mrs. Warren Rock, her sister, will be maid of honor. Robert Marlow, brother of the groom, will be best man.

Bridal attendants are Fay Wray, Ginger Rogers, Mrs. Richard Hargreases (the former Helen Ferguson) and Mrs. Johnny Mack Brown. Ushers will be Harold Lloyd, Allan Jones, Basil Rathbone, John Mack Brown, Richard Hargreaves and Warren Rock. The Rev. Willsie Martin will officiate.

Jeanette MacDonald and Gene Raymond have been Hollywood's "pet" couple for more than a year. Neither has been married before.

Council Asks That Weeds, Grass Be Cut

Sanitary Officer William Roach's order to property owners to cut weeds and tall grass on vacant lots today has the support of Mayor George Harroff and members of city council.

The councilmen at a meeting Tuesday night complained of the tall weeds on numerous vacant lots in the city. Failure to have the weeds and grass cut, they warned, may bring prosecution. The councilmen also voiced complaint over tree limbs which hang too near the sidewalks.

JOIN IN ATTACK ON DAVEY BILLS

Campbell, Baggott Back Up Yoder In Criticizing Governor

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, June 16.—Two state senators joined today with Lieut-Gov. Paul P. Yoder and State Auditor Joseph T. Fergusin in attacking Gov. Martin L. Davey's use of handbills in a legislative fight on the biennial state budget.

Large handbills defending the administration's $90,000,000 budget were distributed throughout the state yesterday, in some instances by state highway employes.

Sen. Emerson Campbell (D.-Belmont), chairman of the senate finance committee, who supported the governor in the budget scrap during the regular session of the assembly, called the use of state employes to pass the handbills "disgusting."

Yoder called the Davey leaflet "the most outstanding bit of misrepresentation and misinformation since the last Davey campaign."

Sen. Horace W. Baggott (D.-Montgomery), leader of the "no new taxes" group which blocked the Davey budget by calling for reductions of $10,000,000, said: "I don't think I could improve on Yoder's statement. He hit the nail on the head."

The handbill asserted that old age pensions were threatened, that state institutions would be impaired, that industrial compensation payments would be reduced, that criminal investigations would be hindered and that highway department activities would be curtailed if the budget were reduced.

The legislature will meet in special session next Monday at the call of Governor Davey to enact a budget.. The state has been operating this year on temporary appropriations which will expire July 1.

Auditor Ferguson said he would question mileage reports of state employes used to distribute the leaflets.

NLRB MAY RULE ON CONTRACTS IN STEEL FIGHT

Labor Board decision may Decide Problem of Signatures

HEARING CALLED FOR INLAND STEEL

Roosevelt Hints That Industry Should Sign Agreements

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 16. — The steel industry turned to the government today for an answer to the problem which prompted the current strikes: must a company actually sign an agreement reached with its workers?

Chairman Madden said the National Labor Relations Board probably would rule on this controversial point after a hearing on its complaint that Inland Steel company violated the Wagner act by refusing to sign an agreement with its workers.

Acts On Own Initiative

He said the board raised the issue in that case on its own initiative, believing, after a preliminary examination of steel union charges, that Inland's failure to sign the compact could be interpreted legally as a violation of the act.

President Roosevelt said yesterday common sense dictated that if a man willingly agreed to a verbal collective bargaining contract, he should put it in writing.

He did not say, however, whether he believed failure to do so violated the Wagner act.

The labor relations board decided last July that the St. Joseph, Mo., Stockyards company violated the Wagner act by refusing to put a mutual understanding with its employes "in a binding agreement."

The board said then:

"An employer is not required to sign the specific agreement presented to him by representatives of his employes. Nor is he obligated to agree to any of their demands solely for the sake of reaching some agreement when genuine accord is impossible although both sides are acting in good faith.

Line Is Distinct

"But the line between these privileged areas and the duty imposed by the act is distinct; the employer must negotiate in good faith in an endeavor to reach an understanding and that understanding, if eventually achieved, must be incorporated into an agreement if the representatives of the employes so request."

The supreme court decision validating the Wagner act said specifically it does not "compel agreements between employers and employes" but did not touch on the question of a company reducing to writing an agreement it reached with its workers.

True Blue Class Pushes Plans For Old Gown Pageant

Committees of the True Blue class of the Presbyterian church are completing arrangements for the pageant of old-fashioned gowns and entertainment to be given at the church at 8 p. m. Thursday.

Besides the pageant, when members of the class will model lovely dresses of bygone years, there will be musical entertainment and lunch. Anyone interested is invited to attend.

Figuring in the gown parade will be a 102-year-old shawl which was worn by the mother of Mrs. Barbara Trimble Adams and a gown worn by Mrs. George Campbell to the first Calumet dance in 1894. Others will range in age from 20 to 90 years.

Vocal selections by John Olloman and little Billy Weber, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Weber, and xylophone solos by Miss Marie Callahan will feature the entertainment.

Committee chairmen are: Entertainment, costumes, Miss Doris King; tickets, Mrs. John Weber; dining room, Mrs. William Weber; decorations, Mrs. T. A. Mercer.

Girl, 14, Is Victim Of Auto Accident

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Claycomb of 571 North Lincoln ave., left yesterday for Altoona, Pa., to attend the funeral service today for Frances June Claycomb, 14, daughter of Att'y and Mrs. D. Lloyd Claycomb at Altoona, who died in an automobile accident on the William Penn highway near Altoona Saturday.

Att'y Claycomb is an uncle of T. A. Claycomb. The girl was killed when the car driven by her father left the highway and crashed into a telephone pole. Her parents also were hurt but left the hospital following emergency treatment. A tire blowout is believed to have caused the mishap.

MOVEMENT GAINING IN DETROIT

Warren Judge Orders Republic to Bring Into court Any Records Showing Expenditures for Guns, Other Weapons

(By Associated Press)

YOUNGSTOWN, June 16—A back-to-work movement, designed to re-open the strike-sieged mills of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company, ended inconclusively today as a dynamite explosion heightened the tension on another front in the big steel strike area.

A similar back-to-work move in Detroit, however, gained momentum in some General Motors corporation plants, with the settlement of a walkout that has kept 12,000 employes of the Ternstedt Manufacturing company of Detroit, idle since June 7.

The Steel Workers Organizing Committee proposed to the Bethlehem Steel corporation that an election be held at the strikebound Cambria works in Johnstown, Pa., to determine whether John L. Lewis' steel union will represent the employes in collective bargaining.

Pittsburgh headquarters of the union announced a telegram had been sent to Eugene Grace, president of Bethlehem, making the proposal.

The union stipulated that if the union wins the election, the company should agree to a written labor contract—the prime point at which independent steel companies have balked.

Purnell Vetoes Plan

Frank Purnell, president of Youngstown Sheet and Tube, vetoed—for the moment, at least—the back-to-work plan submitted by Ray L. Thomas, who said he was a spokesman for 10,000 non-striking steel workers in the Mahoning valley.

Purnell declined to give the workers' delegation any answer except that he would move "as rapidly as possible" to obtain promises of "protection" from civil authorities for men who want to go back to work..

He would not attempt a re-opening, he said, until he had received such assurances..

The mills have been idle for three weeks.

At Warren, another tense point in the Mahoning valley steel area, Judge Lynn B. Griffith ordered the Republic Steel company to bring into court any records showing how much has been spent for machine-guns, tear-gas bombs, labor "spies" and company unions.

The judge made his ruling at the start of the third day's hearing on Republic's petition for an injunction to curtail picketing.

A. F. L. Protests

At Ambridge, Pa., a spokesman for an American Federation of Labor union asserted in a protest to President Roosevelt and Attorney General Homer Cummings that CIO pickets prevented AFL workers from returning to their jobs.

The protests followed yesterday's clash at Ambridge when scores were beaten in a free-for-all between 500 CIO pickets and 50 AFL members attempting a back-to-work movement.

Here in the Mahoning valley more than 30,000 men have been idle since May 26.

About 20,000 have been out of work in Youngstown alone, with the huge Republic Steel corporation and the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company standing adamant against CIO demands for a signed labor contract.

On the eastern front of the strike "war" an explosion at Johnstown, Pa., sent scores of terror-stricken residents tumbling from their beds into the streets before dawn today.

WARREN PHONE STRIKE CALLED

87 Operators Walk Out at Noon, Demanding Higher Wages

WARREN, June 16. — Eighty-seven operators of the Warren Telephone company went on strike at 12:10 p. m. today, cutting off service to the concern's 10,000 patrons when an undisclosed demand for a wage increase was not met.

Girls set up picket lines about the telephone building and permitted only company officials to enter.

Arthur Bennett, international vice president of the Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, with which the strikers were affiliated, said eight operators were being left on duty to handle only long distance and local calls of an emergency nature.

He said the union would undertake to make arrangements for handling all fire and hospital calls.

Warren, industrial city of more than 40,000, is in the heart of the steel strike area.

Union and telephone company officials announced no definite plans for a conference and did not make public the demands made by operators yesterday.

The Warren exchange is operated by the Middle Western Telephone Co., of Park Ridge, Ill. Offices of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., in Cleveland said their company had no connection with the Warren company except the usual arrangement for handling long distance calls.

"Spooners" Blamed For Broken Bulbs

In the summer a young man's fancy turns lightly to thoughts of, well . . . . ah, in this instance — breaking ligrt globes.

That appears to be the case in the northeast section of the city, where Service Director Frank Wilson and City Electrician Lee Saunders report numerous street lights broken.

The vandals, the officials believe, are young men who are of the opinion that the street lights are too bright for "spooning" and such things.

Wilson told city council last night three light bulbs had to be replaced within a week on North Union ave.

Keyes Continues As Sales Manager

WARREN, June 16.—Gordon F. Keyes of Salem continues as general manager of sales of the Mullins Manufacturing Corporation, it is announced by Charles Morrow, vice president in charge of sales.

WHERE'S THE MINORITY REPORT

Just as the supreme court's minority opinions frequently furnish the means of understanding the majority's ruling, so does it seem that the senate judiciary committee's minority report on the administration's court bill might be an enlightening document.

The committee's majority report, powerful and vigorous, is little more than a concise statement of the familiar argument against the bill. It is, in effect, a final reminder to the administration that its proposal was rejected by the committee because that particular group of senators detected in it an attempt to do an intolerable thing by indirection.

This phase of the controversy—President Roosevelt's hidden attack on an independent branch of the government—has not been a pleasant thing to talk about. It is not a pleasant subject now, but a vital one, nevertheless, because on it is balanced, for the time being, the future prestige of Mr. Roosevelt.

A minority report, explaining clearly why certain senators believe the court bill was worthy of presentation and still deserves their support, would be a most interesting document to read at this time when the bill's original sponsors, themselves, no longer are standing by their guns.

JOHN N. GARNER'S VACATION

John N. Garner, vice president of the United States, has started an extended vacation by leaving Washington in the midst of a legislative session. There are peculiar and alarming things about the vice president's departure.

Vacations are not in his line. In Washington, the vacation theory is being scouted. Mr. Garner is not known to be in ill health, or even tired.

He is known, however, to be in sharp disagreement with President Roosevelt on certain matters of policy, notably economy.

His absence from the capital during the windup of a legislative session will be an important one. Mr. Garner is an excellent strategist. He has a strong personal following. He is now, as he was in 1932 and again in 1936, the conservative balance in the administration.

He is one of the two men whom millions of American citizens voted for in the two national elections which placed the Democratic party in control of the government and kept it there.

As the significance of his departure from Washington penetrates national consciousness, Mr. Garner's so-called vacation may become the most important political event of the year.

WRECKERS

Latest execution news from Russia tells of 28 persons convicted of train wrecking. Previously, 06 persons had been executed for the same offense.

That's a lot of train wreckers, in any language Coming right on top of a succession of executions in Russia for this and that, it deepens the impression that a lot of blood-letting is going on in the Soviet states these days.

On the minds of all persons who have watched the dictatorship method at work, that impression is connected closely with another one.

When a dictatorship plunges into a blood bath, the charge isn't important. Only the execution matters. Trotskyists, train wreckers, sabotagers—they're all guilty of the same offense, punishable by death under dictatorship. That's the offense of being displeasing to the man, or men, on horseback from whom the firing squad takes orders.

O. O. McINTYRE
NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, June 16.—Constance Collier has for her charm, biting wit and often outrageous upsetting of the conventions become the Mrs. Pat Campbell on this side of the Atlantic. Any tea party that can entice her to the ringside is made. It will likely wind up with a whoop.

Like Mrs. Campbell, too, she goes nowhere without some fantastic looking dog. Sometimes a Peke, other times a Sealyham or maybe a mastiff. I believe it was Noel Coward who said of one of her newest canines that it smelt like a drain.

Miss Collier, English born, has divided her time between New York and London and is equally well known on both sides, but it is America, many think she prefers. Large of stature, she is at first meeting shy, shrinking, but if she takes to you and turns on her charm you are her slave from then on!

Many think her autobiography a few years ago is one of the most revealing written by a performer. In New York she makes the Algonquin her base, but at any moment is likely to go flying off to Hollywood, where she is in frequent demand for her character cameos.

Memory: Grandpa wearing shoes on the wrong feet now and then to keep them straight.

The new types of satiny night club and snack bar so glorified by the Louis Sobols and Ed Sulllivans have proved acceptable spring boards from which society career girls may take off in their ambitions to act. Among the successful are Eve Symington, Peggy Lynch, Adelaide Moffett, Julie Gillespie and several others whose names escape me. It might seem that most of them were depending on a Four Hundred background to put them over, but I have seen nearly all and there's not one who could not hold the spot with her own ability.

I believe some of the most lasting impressions I have of crack entertainment value have come out of the flossy cafes. They are flushing out more real talent than the stage and movies, and had vaudeville displayed the same acumen in new finds it would not be where it is today—in the ash can. I think especially of the mimic, Shiela Barret; the amazing blind pianist, Alex Templeton; the ventriloquist, Edgar Bergen; Fray and Braggiotti, the versatile twin pianists; Eddie Garr, the impersonator, and, of course, Ruby Keeler, George Raft, Bing Crosby, and probably 20 other stellar names came out of the night mosques.

Whenever I see the term "boundless energy"—as I did a moment ago—I think of Will Rogers. His wife Betty once told me she had never known him to appear fatigued or to admit he was tired. From the moment he arose in the morning—and he liked 6 a. m. as a rising hour—he was in constant fidget. He liked to read newspapers and morning mail walking up and down. If he had to sit in a chair he was in perpetual squirm, tearing up bits of papers or ruffing back his hair and crossing and re-crossing his legs. His furious chewing of gum was another indication of the strange restlessness, his jaws often in constant motion from the time he got up until he retired. He could think best in action and that was why he always thought his better monologues were those that he delivered while twirling the lariat. After his first airplane flight he told me that forever afterward riding on something as slow as an express train was absolute torture.

The most consistent newspaperman snubber continues to be the actress, Katharine Hepburn. It began with her irritation when she was badly pilloried in her first stage performance—a terrific flop. She was young, tender and very sensitive, and has never forgotten any branch of the press, no matter in what part of the country. Although her original tormentors were dramatic critics and not reporters, she cannot be mollified and rarely fails to slam doors in their faces whenever besieged. Many actresses who indulged such tantrums later longed for the reportorial salvo. It may even happen to Miss Hepburn. Life is often like that.

Etude: Now and then something comes over most of us. When it comes over me I pop into a florist shop and come out adorned with a bright lapel flower. I had one of my spells this morning and as I emerged a romantic ash cart driver with spring in his heart and a discarded posey tucked behind his ear, called out with a grin: "You and me, buddy."

THE STARS SAY:
For Thursday, June 17.

While this may be a lively and stirring day, according to the dominant sway of exciting planets, yet there may be turmoil, confusion and agitation to be diverted into trends of constructive activity. There may be a spirit of initiative and enterprise, with the mental faculties under high pressure, but a corresponding urge to disputes, petulance and recklessness may prove detrimental. Elders or their affairs seem to give concern, possibly in connection with an investment, inheritance or a trust.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a lively and enterprising year, with much of a constructive character calling for sound initiative, calm deliberation and acumen. Finances, investments or bequests engage the attention, possibly involving the estate of an elderly woman. Be wise with documents.

A child born on this day may be shrewd, energetic and enterprising, with finance or inheritance taking active part in its life, calling for wise manipulation and self-restraint, as recklessness may prove its undoing.

White House Guest

Roberta Jonay

As a result of a chance meeting two years ago in New York, at which Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt made the acquaintance of Roberta Jonay, and was impressed by her talent and beauty, the young lady has been a guest at the White House during a two-week engagement as dancer at a Washington hotel. She has also been a guest of the Roosevelts at Hyde Park. She is shown here on the White House lawn.

HEALTH
By Dr. Royal S. Copeland
New York City

NOSE TUMORS

RECENTLY I told you about enlarged tonsils and adenoids. It was pointed out that these conditions are a common cause of mouth breathing. Today I want to tell you about another condition that is characterized by mouth breathing. The affliction I refer to is nasal polyp.

Dr. Copeland

A nasal polyp, or polypus, is a small tumor located in the nasal chamber. It may be on one side, or polyps may be found on both sides of the nose. In fact, the nasal passages may be entirely obstructed by nasal polyps.

This growth usually develops from the middle bony portion of the nose. Although it progresses slowly, over a period of many years, eventually it may become so large as completely to obstruct the nasal passage. Because of its slow growth and development, the sufferer from this condition is likely to neglect it.

Affects Sense of Smell

Those who develop polyps suffer from some chronic inflammation of the lining of the nose. Almost invariably they have chronic nasal catarrh. Such persons are extremely susceptible to colds, sore throats and infections of the upper air passages.

One of the most common signs of the nasal polp is a gradual destruction of the sense of smell. Almost every victim of nasal polyp suffers from a loss of this sense. He can rarely enjoy the fragrance of flowers or other tempting aromas.

In spite of these signs, persons so afflicted rarely consult with a doctor until many years after the damage has been done. This is unfortunate, because if too much time passes it is difficult to restore the smelling function even after the polyp has been removed. On the other hand, early removal completely restores the sense of smell. Also it often relieves the catarrh, congestion, and other disagreeable discomforts that have accompanied the trouble.

Operation Essential

The only cure for this condition is by an operation. There is no salve or other medicine that will cure nasal polyp. Do not neglect the operation for it is a simple one and need cause no anxiety. It is performed under local anesthesia, so that no pain at the time or later discomfort is experienced.

Within a few weeks the patient forgets he has been a victim of this annoying condition. In fact, persons who have had this operation are astonished at the complete change in general health after the polyp hs been removed. Not only is there a marked improvement in general health, but the appetite is improved and there is no longer that marked susceptibility to colds and sore throats so commonly experienced before the operation.

"Rich Girl-Poor Girl" by FAITH BALDWIN

SYNOPSIS

Young Dr. Jonathan Kimber preferred to succeed on his own merits rather than take over the well established practice of his late father. So he goes to the little town of Riverport to take the place of old Dr. Alan Ballard, retired and now living in California. Evelina, his predecessor's meticulous old housekeeper, has everything ready for Jonathan, and Rose Ward, Dr. Ballard's pretty niece, to whom the young physician was greatly attracted when they met a few month's previous, invites him to dinner the first night. Bill Lynd, a friend of Rose, drops in. Jonathan wonders if there is an understanding between them and the thought is most distasteful, for he had grown exceptionally fond of the young lady himself. After Jonathan had been in Riverport a while, Bill suggests it might help his career if he joined the different bridge and yacht clubs and cultivated such people as Sally Sutton, daughter of Senator Sutton who controls the town. But Jonathan says he does not think of his profession in terms of money but service. Bill's statement that he would seek his fortune elsewhere if it weren't for certain things, sets Jonathan to thinking of Rose . . . Was she the reason Bill wouldn't leave? And as to his own feelings for the girl . . No, it wasn't possible that he. Jonathan. was in love with her- One night, while motoring with Sally Sutton, Phil Dexter, her fiance, hits a lamp-post. Jonathan treats Sally for a head cut and takes her home. He is very aloof and Sally senses he does not like her. Nevertheless, she insists that he accompany her into the house. Jonathan meets the Senator who seems deeply interested in his background. "Riverport needs new blood. Perhaps I can help you," Sutton says. Later, when Jonathan relates the incident to Rose, adding that he does not want the Senator's aid, Rose tells him he would be silly not to accept it, but she thought, furiously, "Sally can help him, I can't."

CHAPTER XII

Jonathan reached for a flat iron and a butternut . . . "Here, pass over the popcorn, will you," he asked, "and don't get excited, Rose. Sutton will forget, he won't raise a finger."

Sally raised it. She raised more than a finger. She was in his office next day, rapping her foot impatiently, tossing aside his magazines and looking without friendliness on the three elderly and one youthful patients who were ahead of her. Why she'd come she didn't know . .She might better be somewhere else . . .But the town was so deadly and this was a new man, an attractive man, rude, unimpressed by her, by anything.

He said, coming out to her, at the end of an hour,

"I'm sorry, Miss Sutton . . . ."

"You might have seen me first . . .!"

"I didn't know you were here," he replied untruthfully, Evelina having admitted her and informed him of her arrival in disapproving tones, and the four patients who preceded having done the same . . with eager interest.

"And if you had known . . .?"

"I'm afraid," he answered courteously, "you would have waited just the same, unless you'd 'phoned for an appointment."

"I was afraid to 'phone," she said. "Thought you wouldn't want to see me. After all, my cut is only an excuse."

He beckoned her to stand up near the window, looked at her forehead and nodded. "Quite." he agreed, "leave it alone. It's all right."

She said. "You wouldn't let me pay . . . last night . . . this is an office call."

Jonathan said, very shortly, "I'll send you a bill, the first of the month."

Her fair face flashed into animation, the black eyes were wicked. She said, "Oh, then my credit's good?"

"Very", he assured her and rose to indicate that the interview was at an end. But Sally stopped him, her hand on his arm again in the casually caressing way which was second nature to her. She said, "But I came to ask you to dinner. Tomorrow night. Seven-thirty. Informal. Just us."

I should hope so, thought Jonathan, whose evening clothes had seen better days. He hadn't thought he'd need new ones in Riverport.

"But—"

"No, don't. I know you haven't office hours at night. You can leave word where you are. Please come." Her eyes danced . . . She said, "Even if you don't like me — we have a very good cook."

When she had left it the room seemed darker. He thought, looking into the living room to find it empty of patients, well, so that's that. The cook may have a sore throat one day. Why not go . . It would be more than churlish to refuse . . . And yet he found himself a little hesitant telling Rose about it that evening.

Bill Lynd was there. He said cheerfully, his large hand in the popcorn bowl, "You'd be crazy not to go. Kim—here's your chance."

* * *

Dinner at the Suttons was on the stately side. Cocktails and appetizers and innumerable courses and excellent wine and a very good brandy to follow. Mrs. Sutton was as fair as Sally, but she had anticipated nature and was one jump ahead of grey hair. She was a plump woman with a manner curiously divided between the confiding and the aloof. Before the meal was over, Jonathan found himself prescribing for her migraine. He didn't for a minute believe she had true migraine however . . .

Sutton laughed jovially. "Don't tell her what to do, Kimber,'" he advised, "she"s trying to get something for nothing."

"Bridge?" Sutton asked hopefully, after the women had left the dining room and the two men were alone.

"I'm afraid not. I haven't had time to learn." He added hastily, convinced that it was best to speak the whole discouraging truth, "and I don't play golf."

"Well," said Sutton easily, "you'll learn. I'm not much good myself but I like it. Keeps me fit. In my active days I did a lot of business on various golf courses . . . I'll propose you at the Club."

"But—"

"No, don't thank me, glad to do it. You must get around more, you know. Good for your business. Doctoring's a business, like any other, isn't it?"

"Not quite," said Jonathan.

"Well, you know what I mean . . Shall we go into the drawing room . . .?" It had taken a number of years to teach him that; parlor came a lot more easily to a Riverport boy.

Later Sally turned on the radio and when the music of a New York hotel dance orchestra reached them she held out her arms invitingly. "Come on, Doctor Kimber—bother . . . that's too much trouble. What do they call you . . .Wait a minute. Kim . . . I like that . . . Come on, Kim."

"I don't dance," he said, alarmed.

"Lord, the man's a paragon! Come along, I'll teach you, it won't hurt you . . ."

He had, of course, danced in college, but not since. Now he found it easy enough, she was light and pliant in his arms. She said, "You're not so bad . . . ."

"Thanks to you," he told her.

"That was an effort, wasn't it . . . ?" She leaned closer to him, very close indeed. She said, "You can't escape us, Kim. . . . I suppose you know that. But we've good hearts if bad reputations."

That night as he was leaving she went to the door with him, and the impeccable Hardy vanished discreetly. She said, standing very near, "Good night. . . . Be seein' you soon. . . . I think perhaps, after all, I'm going to have an amusing winter in Riverport."

Jonathan said, without thinking, "But you're going to Palm Beach."

She asked softly, "Wherever did you hear that? If I was, I've changed my mind. Palm Beach is an old story. . . . I think I'm going to like it here. . . ."

She laughed a little, her mouth very close to his. Jonathan stared at it fascinated. He didn't like her he didn't believe that he'd ever like her—but—

Automaticaly he bent closer—closer. . . .

"Not so fast," said Sally, amused, and betook herself a foot away. "And, good night, Doctor," she said formally, "it's been so nice, having you with us."

With the great door closed between them he imagined that he could still hear her laughter. He climbed into his car and stamped angrily on the starter. He'd keep away from the girl if he knew what was good for him, the practiced little—

But standing before his mirror later, wrenching at his collar, he said to himself angrily, she expected me to kiss her . . . well, why didn't I?

In the morning, awakening to the pleasant odors of coffee percolating and bacon frying, Jonathan made the discovery that daylight had faded the subtly exciting colors and design of the previous night into more or less ordinary shades and pattern. He told himself severely, glaring at his lathered face in an unflattering mirror that, of course, he had dined with the gentleman who appeared to be Riverport's Public Benefactor Number One, and that while this sterling character's daughter was, indubitably provocative, on-coming and effervescent, there still remained no cogent reason why he, a sober young physician just beginning to practice in a new town, should find himself either flattered or disturbed. Certainly a professional man rapidly approaching the sere and yellow season of his thirtieth year could look upon a tiptilted nose and challenging eyes and a warm, demanding mouth without becoming either notional or dizzy.

He did not put it to himself in so many words. He merely said, aloud and austerely, "Granting a whole lot of things, is there any reason to go into a spin over 'em?"

Having replied in a forceful and qualified negative, he proceeded to remove the lather and presently went whistling downstairs to a breakfast which was, as usual, perfection, and which Evelina, also as usual, deplored. Evelina, thought Jonathan, attacking orange juice and eggs, should have been born in an Oriental country in which her genius for understatement and depreciation could have found full scope.

"I hear," commented Evelina, lingering, "that they've got a new butler up to Sutton's."

This was his cue to discuss the evening's entertainment with her. He responded cheerfully. He said, "Well, an old butler, at any rate. He didn't look new to me; he looked old."

"They come and go," offered Evelina mysteriously, and added something about "goings on." But the real crux of the matter was disclosed when, on her way to the kitchen, she inquired casually if he had enjoyed his dinner.

"Good dinner," Jonathan told her, smiling, "but not as good as any of yours."

Evelina snorted and remarked that she wasn't taken in by soft soap and that she was aware that there was more ways than one of killing a cat. With which cryptic remark she retired to the range over which she raised a clear high unemotional voice in a lusty rendition of one of the more lugubrious hymns.

Problem In Cows

GENEVA, N. Y., June 16.—Puzzled federal specialists, unable to locate anyone in Washington who knew how the government's new mechanical cow should be put together, turned to the state agricultural experiment station here to find out how she should chew her cud.

Should her lower jaw swing to the left, or to the right?

There were supporters here of each theory, and a third group which decided, after careful observation, that a cow may be "right-cudded" in the morning and "left-cudded" in the afternoon.

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD
Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Nuts

The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, coarse or rich foods or when you are nervous, hurried or chew poorly—your stomach pours out too much fluid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain or sour stomach. You feel sour, sick and upset all over.

Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes those little black tablets called Bell-ans for Indigestion to make the excess stomach fluids harmless, relieve distress in 5 minutes and put you back on your feet. Relief is so quick it is amazing and one 25c package proves it. Ask for Bell-ans for Indigestion. Sold everywhere. (c) Bell & Co. 1937.

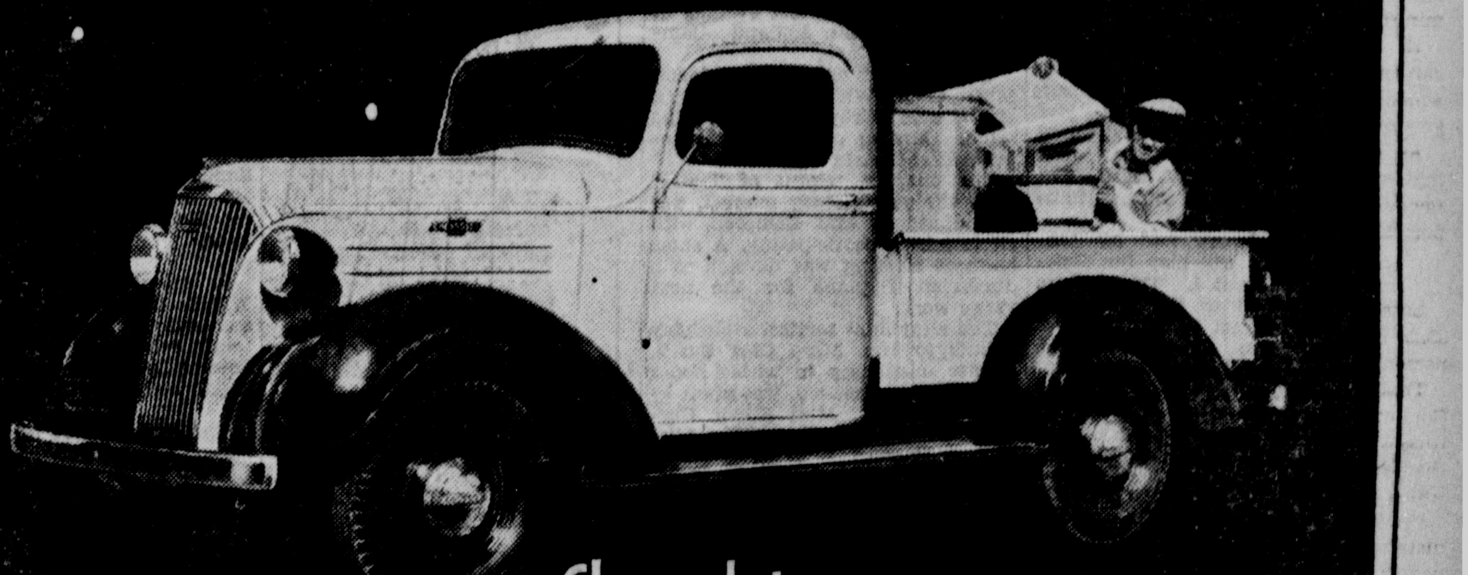
CHEVROLET TRUCKS



Chevrolet users say:
"They're the most economical trucks for all-round duty"

Perfected Hydraulic Brakes . . . Greatest Pulling Power in Their Price Range . . . New Steelstream Styling

CHEVROLET
FOR ECONOMICAL TRANSPORTATION

"Give us a truck with ample pulling power . . . one that is economical . . . one that will give reliable service over a long period for the least money."

That is the demand of all truck operators, and thousands of Chevrolet users will tell you that the best answer is—Chevrolet trucks!

Chevrolet trucks have the greatest pulling power in their price range . . . because they have a New High-Compression Valve-in-Head Engine which wrings the last ounce of power out of every gallon of fuel.

Chevrolet trucks are the most economical for all-round duty . . . because they give maximum gas and oil mileage, and will keep on serving over a long period with minimum care and attention.

And Chevrolet trucks are safer, more modern, more durable . . . because they're the only low-priced trucks with Perfected Hydraulic Brakes, New Steelstream Styling, Pressure Stream Lubrication, and extra-strong Chevrolet construction throughout.

Ask your nearest Chevrolet dealer for a thorough demonstration—today!

Book And Travelers Clubs Hold Their Annual Outings

Salem Book and Travelers clubs held their annual picnics Tuesday afternoon. Book club members enjoying a 1 o'clock luncheon at the Salem Country club, followed by a short business meeting and program of games and contests.

Mrs. O. P. Ashead, new president of the club, was elected delegate to attend the convention of the northeast district of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs in Youngstown, Oct. 26 and 27.

Travelers at Quaker Tea House

Guests were entertained by Travelers club members at the picnic on the lawn at the Quaker tea house. Luncheon was served at tables outdoors, attended by more than 70 club women and their guests.

Mrs. Mowry Hanni of Youngstown delightfully reviewed the Mark Brenning best seller, "The Sisters," the story of the lives of the three Elliot girls, Louise, Grace and Helen. She prefaced her story with an explanation of the type of book, containing excellent and clear-cut characterizations.

The story followed the lives of the three sisters from their childhood in a little Montana copper town through their various marriages and finally to middle age. Louise, the oldest of the three, and the most beautiful, married a man from San Francisco who left her years later for her to seek her own happiness with someone else; Grace, the practical and stolid sister, married the wealthy home town man her sister, Louise, had turned from, and led a placid and comfortable life; Helen, the youngest, shallow and gay, married a man older than her father, very wealthy, made him happy until his death and then, with three other husbands, enjoyed the riches he had left her.

Concludes Season's Program

The reviewer presented the best of the novel in condensed but complete form, in entertaining and original fashion.

The affair concluded all club events for this year.

During a short business meeting Mrs. Guy Byers, retiring head, presented the gavel to Mrs. Russell Gibbs, new president.

Kensington Couple Married 50 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Walter K. Reeder, of Kensington, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, Tuesday.

Mr. Reeder, son of Jobe and Alice Reeder, and Rosella Weaver, daughter of Rev. J. H. and Hannah Weaver, were married June 15, 1887 by the bride's father at the Weaver farm home near Kensington. With the exception of brief periods spent in Alliance and West Point, Mr. and Mrs. Reeder have lived most of the time at Kensington.

A carpenter, Mr. Reeder helped build many buildings in the county, including a number of homes in Sebring soon after it was founded.

Mr. Reeder will be 74 June 27. Mrs. Reeder's 74th birthday was observed May 18. Ernest T. Reeder of Alliance is their only child. They have two grandchildren, Mrs. Thelma Mowen who with her husband, Harry, was observing her second wedding anniversary Tuesday, and Ralph Reeder.

Mr. Reeder's only sister, Mrs. Luella Albright, 83, of near Dayton, is now visiting in their home. Mrs. Reeder is a sister of Howard Weaver, Alliance and Frank Weaver of East Liverpool; Miss Ottie Weaver and Mrs. Mary Shaw of Cold Water, Mich. The late L. L. Weaver of Alliance was a brother.

CLAUSE IS O. K.'D BY OHIO COURT

Emergency Angle In "Sick Commissioner" Bill Stands In High Tribunal's Opinion

COLUMBUS, June 16.—The Ohio Supreme court today upheld the emergency clause of the so-called "sick commissioner" bill, which changed the appointive power for filling vacancies on county commissions.

Ed D. Schorr, state Republican chairman, had sought a writ of mandamus to force Secretary of State William J. Kennedy to permit a referendum on the bill.

Kennedy, in refusing to authorize a referendum, said that emergency legislation passed by the legislature was not subject to referendum.

Schorr contended before the court that the commissioner act could not be classed as emergency legislation.

In another case, the court allowed Att'y Gen. Herbert S. Duffy a writ of mandamus to compel State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson to pay fees totaling $6,100 to three special assistants of the attorney general.

Ferguson had withheld payment of $5,000 to Don C. Power, special counsel in the Ohio Bell telephone rate case; $500 to E. W. Woods and $600 to George C. Eckelberry, special auditors in the rate litigation.

The state auditor questioned before the court whether Power and Eckelberry, already on the payroll of Ohio State university, were entitled to collect for another state job.

Theater Attractions

Thomas Beck and Madge Evans in "The 13th Chair" at the State theater tonight and Thursday.

A new Philo Vance murder story, "Night of Mystery," as exciting as the other S. S. Van Dine stories which have been filmed, forms the first feature on a double at the Grand tonight and Thursday.

A New Philo Vance

The picture introduces a new Philo Vance and Sergeant Heath in the persons of Grant Richards and Roscoe Karns.

Thrown into the midst of a series of murders that threatens to extinguish a whole family forced to live in a mysterious mansion, Vance unearths clue after clue that leads up a blind alley. He finds pitted against his coldly scientific methods of crime detection a maniacal strength that eludes each trap.

Onslow Stevens and pretty Helen Mack are teamed for the first time in the romantic screen drama, "You Can't Buy Luck," the story of a superstitious race horse owner, which completes the Grand's double bill tonight and tomorrow.

Miss Mack, a petite brunette, returns to the screen after a brief rest, to carry on her promising career. She appeared as leading lady in such pictures as "The Milky Way," Four Hours to Kill," "The Return of Peter Grimm," "Captain Hurricane" and "She."

Although Stevens is better-known for his stage work, he has played several prominent roles in motion pictures, including "Under Two Flags," "Bridge of Sighs," "A Notorious Gentleman and "The Three Musketeers."

The State offers a two-feature program tonight and Thursday, George Brent and Anita Louise with Charles Winninger in "The Go-Getter" and a mystery, "The 13th Chair," with Dame May Whitty, Madge Evans, Lewis Stone, Elissa Landi, Thomas Beck and others.

Wooster Baseball Men Get Letters

ROTARY HEARS PROBATE JUDGE

Hammond Tells of Efforts Being Made To Care For Mentally Ill

COLUMBIANA, June 16.—Judge H. W. Hammond spoke to members of the Columbiana Rotary club Monday evening, telling of the new legislation recently enacted for the care of the mentally ill.

A committee of nine probate judges, of which Mr. Hammond is one, made a detailed study of the work done in other states, particularly in Massachusetts and Illinois, and their report was adopted and made a law.

Contrary to the average opinion, Judge Hammond says that insanity is not on the increase. Crowded conditions in the state hospitals, he says, are caused by the lack of cures due to lack of proper facilities. At the conclusion of his talk, the judge answered a number of questions.

Visitors at the meeting were H. A. Tuttle, Youngstown, and Rotarians Keith Knowlton, Dr. F. R. Crowgey and Dr. L. W. King, Salem.

Kiwanis Meets

The Columbiana Kiwanis club met at Roller's restaurant with 21 members present. Program Chairman W. O. Wallace introduced the guest speaker, Robert E. Hall, Lisbon, lieutenant governor of the 10th division, who spoke on "The American Frankenstein."

Old Timers Take Over First Place In Class A Softball Loop

Pottery Loses To Mullins Foremen to Drop From Tie For Lead In Senior League

Old Timers Gain Sole Possession of First by Defeating Nobil Shoes for Fifth Straight Win; Emmanuels Cop Round Title In "B"

When they laid plans for an Old Timers team in the Class A City Softball league, they were figuring on only one thing—that the veterans, joined together on one club, would add interest to the league. They were not seriously considering the new club as a contender for championship honors.

But things look a whole lot different now and right up there on the top of the standings in the senior circuit is perched the Old Time club which was given only an outside chance of winning any one of the three round championships.

The Old Timers took over sole possession of the league leadership at Centennial park last evening, trimming Nobil Shoes, 13 to 6, while the Salem Chinas, who were formerly tied for first place, absorbed a 9 to 6 beating from Mullins Foremen, last year's champions.

With the first round of the Class A loop scheduled to end next Tuesday, the Old Timers, who have now won five games and lost none, seem headed toward the round championship unless they should suffer an unexpected reverse in one of their three remaining games.

The Salem Chinas were previously considered as the team to beat for the round title, but the Pottery players' defeat last evening practically eliminates them from the championship class. Until last evening the Chinas had won five games and lost none. They have one chance remaining to cut themselves in for a share of the championship, this coming next Tuesday when they will meet the Old Timers in the concluding game of the first round.

The Old Timers had no trouble at all in making Nobil Shoes their fifth victim last evening. Going to the front with four runs in the first inning, the veterans added two runs in the second frame, four in the third, one in the fourth and two in the sixth to win going away.

Harry Vincent made his first start on the mound for the Old Timers and allowed 11 hits in six innings.

Seven errors were mainly responsible for the Chinas' defeat at the hands of Mullins Foremen. The Pottery team had good pitching support from Dale Ritchie, but performed poorly in the field. Both teams collected nine hits in the contest, but the story of defeat was written in the error column.

The Emmanuel Lutherans captured the first round championship of the Class B league in one of two junior circuit games last evening, defeating the Trinity Lutherans, 17 to 11, for their seventh consecutive victory.

The Columbians won the other contest, whipping the Methodists, 6 to 3.

The Class B circuit will start its second round tomorrow night at the park with two games scheduled. Several teams did not complete their first round schedules, but these games were cancelled because none of the clubs could beat the Emmanuels out for the round championship.

LOUIS NOT OUT, HARLEM CLAIMS

Chicago Negro Fans Say Brown Bomber Is Far From Slipping

CHICAGO, June 16.—Joe Louis slippin'? Don' you believe it.....

That's the solemn-faced advice you can get on most every corner of Chicago's great south-side Negro section today as the Brown Bomber makes ready for his world's title fight next Tuesday night with Heavyweight Champion Jim Braddock.

Hummp! Who takes enny stock in 'dis stuff dat Joe ain' jussis good as evah.....? Ain'ee almos chasin' dem sparrin' pahdnahs a hisn right outta dat ring up at dat Keenosha place.....?

Joe the barber shop porter, Sam the shoeshine man and Duke the chauffeur—he's already got the night off after deliverin' the boss—will be in the $6.60 seats at Comiskey park next Tuesday night. There'll be from 17,000 to 20,000 Sams, Joes and Dukes watching their idol, Joe, for at the present time their ticket purchases represent between 7 and 10 per cent of the advance sales.

"S 'e, Joe was knocked out by Schmeling," agreed 'Sam, but he was jus' a boy. No disgrace to be licked by Schmeling, was there? An' he can hit jus' as hard as ever. I watched him one day up to his camp and you shudda seen what he did to that Big Seal Harris. Me and some of the boys has $100 on Joe to win by a K. O. in six rounds—and we got practically even money."

Special trains will bring thousands of Louis' race to the fight. Two will come from Washington, while one each will come from Nashville, Tenn., Detroit, Cleveland and St. Louis. But most of Joe's loyal followers won't travel in such style. Within the week thousands of flivvers will dot the roads leading toward Chicago's Harlem.

All of Chicago's darktown citizenry can't see the bout, but Joe's following won't be limited to those who are watching him. Many Chicago streets on the south side will be deserted between the hours of 8:30 and 10.30 next Tuesday night. There'll be special broadcast parties in night clubs, taverns, dance halls. And if Joe wins there'll be a merry, wide-open time to the wee small hours.

If Joe loses.....say, boy, 'gwan wid dat stuff!

Faces Placentia Batters Tonight

Meet Miss Jackie Mitchell, famed girl pitcher from Chattanooga, Tenn. Yes, this is the same Jackie Mitchell, who struck out both Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig in an exhibition game at Chattanooga several years ago.

Recently signed to a contract by the Hawaiian Hulu baseball team, now on tour of the United States, Miss Mitchell will be the starting hurler when the Hawaiians face Lake Placentia under the lights at the lake diamond at 8:30 tonight.

After several innings on the mound tonight, Miss Mitchell is slated to turn the pitching job over to Hula Hopii, who was voted the most valuable twirler in Hawaii's winter league last season.

In meeting the Hawaiians, Placentia places an eight-game winning streak on the block. The Lakers have been defeated only once this season, this coming in their first game against the Canton Sugardales.

JINX PERCHES ON P. WANER'S BATTING NICHE

Superstition that Leading Hitters Don't Repeat Seems Stronger

NEW YORK, June 16.—Paul "Big Poison" Waner will have a tough time in capturing the National league batting crown for the second successive year, experts of baseball's round-table believe.

Paul, the elder of two brothers performing as outfielders for the Pittsburgh Pirates, took the crown for the third time in his career last year with an average of .373. But this year he will have to hurdle what is fast becoming one of the strongest superstitions in the circuit, namely, that not in 10 years or more, since Rogers Hornsby won the title, has a National leaguer won the championship for two successive years.

Waner first led the league in 1927 with an average of .380. He was then known as the "corncob batsman." He once had said that he had acquired his batting skill by tossing corncobs in the air and batting them during his youth on an Oklahoma farm.

After skipping several years as a batting leader, during which he kept up near the head of the parade, Waner again paced the sluggers in the National league in 1934, this time with a mark of .362. Last year he defeated his closest rival, Gordon "Babe" Phelps, chunky catcher of the Brooklyn Dodgers, by six points, in a rousing finish.

This season his closest rivals appear to be Joe Medwick of the St. Louis Cardinals, Frank Demaree of the Chicago Cubs, and a teammate, Arky Vaughan, who captured the title in 1935 with an average of .385. All three finished in that order behind Waner and Phelps last season.

Jersey Joe is one of the best outfielders in baseball. He took a lion's share of last season's batting honors. Playing in all of his club's games, he batted in the most runs, 138; made the most base hits, 223; most total bases, 367, and established a new league record for two-base hits, with 64. He has batted above .350 for the past two seasons. This season he is in the best condition of his career and has been numbered among the league's five leading hitters for the greater part of the season.

Demaree also played in all of his club's games and while he didn't garner any "bests" in league batting, he hit for the lusty average of .350. He once hit 45 homers in the Pacific Coast league. He bats in the cleanup slot in the Cubs' lineup and is one of the main cogs in their offense. While almost any one of a dozen players may surprise and finish in first place, Demaree is figured as one of the favorites.

Vaughan, after winning the batting championship in 1935, slumped badly for the greater part of last season. A last-minute spurt brought him into fifth place in the batting column with an average of .335. In addition to appearing in every game on the Pirates' schedule last year, he scored the most runs in the senior league, 122, and for the third consecutive year received the most bases on balls, 118. Vaughan, one of the game's star shortstops, is a protege of the famous Honus Wagner. So far this season, during spring conditioning and the early part of the regular grind, he has been the Pirates' best hitter.

Anyone of a dozen accidents may happen to ruin a player's championship hopes, but barring injury, Medwick, Demaree and Vaughan are hot favorites to win the slugging crown.

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Brietz To You

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

KENOSHA, Wis., June 16.—Don't let those bearish reports about Joe Louis' condition fool you..... the Bomber may not be the man killer he was two years ago, but he can still throw that right and left..... he's been a bit slow getting tuned up, but yesterday's workout proved he can go to town when he wants to..... his managers aren't worrying..... they're so sure Joe is going to trim Jimmy Braddock next Tuesday night they've already engaged training quarters at Pompton Lakes, N. J., for September fight with Max Schmeling..... the eight rounds Louis boxed yesterday was his best drill since he trained for Max Baer two years ago.

A report is bouncing around in the Wisconsin papers that the Giants have bought Dizzy Dean for $150,000 and Hal Schumacher, delivery to be made in the fall.... Izzy Klein, the Chicago trainer, who has been to Europe with the Baers, tips you to watch Buddy's smoke.... he's the most improved fighter I know of," says Izzy, "and is sure to be in the running for the title in a year or so".... Col. Matt Winn, of Kentucky Derby fame, blew into Chicago yesterday and ordered a block of Louis-Braddock tickets.

Some of the Cubs were speculating yesterday on who they'd place on the All-Star team..... "Hartnett and Stainback" said one..... "Why Stainback?" queried another..... "To run for Hartnett," replied the first..... "he's been earning his living that way for 11 years".....

Late Start And Absence From Spring Training Shows No Ill Effect On Pitching Of Charley (Red) Ruffing

By BILL BONI

Perhaps Charley Ruffing knew what he was doing when he held out until May 5. Perhaps Colonel Jacob Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, knew what he was doing when he let his prize right-hander pull an Achilles and sulk in his Nokomis, Ill., "tent."

Certainly a late start and missing the Yanks' spring training maneuvers appear not to have had any harmful effect on the pitching craft of Rufus the Red. For today the Rupert rifles are a full game ahead of American league pursuers on the strength of Ruffing's sixth victory and second straight shutout, a 3-0 blanking of the Cleveland Indians.

Manager Bill Terry led his troops into Pittsburgh as National league pace-setters but the Bucs won, 7-5; sent Carl Hubbell to the showers for the fifth straight time, and dropped the New Yorkers into the second slot, half a game away from the Cubs.

Shortly after that defeat, Terry announced he had sent Frank Gabler and cash, estimated at $35,000, to the Boston Bees in exchange for right-handed hitting Wally Berger.

Ruffing was the day's outstanding individual performer. He required relief in the eight and again in the ninth in winning his first two games, but since then has gone the route in five starts. He has won four of them, allowing a shade less than six hits a game, with yesterday's four as a new low.

While Ruffing has been winning complete games for the Yanks, another big right-hander, Clay Bryant, has been saving games for the Cubs. Clay pulled another out of the fire yesterday when he relieved Tex Carleton in the fifth, let the Bees down with one hit and hung up his fifth win of the year, 5-4, to put Chicago on top for the first time this year. Four of his triumphs have come in relief roles and he hasn't lost one yet.

The Giants' defeat by the Pirates, their first in seven clashes, marked another episode in the mysterious malady that has beset Hubbell since the Dodgers ended his two-year winning streak at 24 games. He lasted less than two innings and lost his third in a row.

While the Yanks were whipping the fourth-place Indians, the Tigers won a 15-inning marathon from the Senators, 9-8, and moved into second ahead of the White Sox. The latter lost to Lefty Grove and the Red Sox, 5-1, the same score by which the Browns whipped the Athletics.

The Cardinals blasted fourteen hits off three Phil pitchers to win their ninth in ten starts, 13-4, and Waite Hoyt lost his first game in a Brooklyn uniform as the Dodgers' ninth-inning rally fell a run shy of tying the Reds. Johnny Vander Meer gave eleven bases on balls but only three hits to earn his third triumph, though he needed ninth-inning relief by Al Hollingsworth before the Reds won, 4-3.

FISHING TEAMS WILL COMPETE FOR TUNA CUP

British American matches Set for September In Nova Scotia

HALIFAX, N. S., June 16.—The world's first big game angling competition on a team basis will be held this September when teams representing the United States and Great Britain will meet in Nova Scotia to fish for 500 and 600-pound blue fin tuna.

Alton B. Sharp, Boston sportsman, will place the tuna trophy in competition in the first of an annual series of fishing contests to be known as the "international tuna angling matches," it was announced here on behalf of the Nova Scotia government by A. S. Macmillan, minister of highways. Both the North American tuna record of 788 pounds and women's world record of 749 pounds were set in Nova Scotia last year.

Sharp trophy competition will be open to all nations whose teams meet the entrance qualifications established by an international board of governors, the honorary chairmanship of which has been accepted by Premier Angus L. Macdonald of Nova Scotia. The idea for the event in which many of the world's greatest fishermen will meet was conceived by a group of internationally known salt water anglers.

In addition to the United States and the British Empire, it was said that there was already a possibility of a third and separate national entry will be made by a British colony where salt water angling is extremely popular.

The Sharp cup will be a challenge trophy placed in perpetual competition, with the winning team holding it for one year. Preliminary plans were worked in conjunction with the Nova Scotia government by the group of sportsmen who conceived the idea. Rules and general plans hereafter will be carried on by the board of governors, whose names have not yet been announced.

Tuna angling is one of the most spectacular of sports, battles with these streamlined giants of the deep having lasted for as long as 72 hours in these waters. Battles usually last from three or four hours. More than 30 fish weighing more than 500 pounds were taken by anglers in Nova Scotia last season. No record was maintained of fish weighing under 500 pounds.

The present North American record was established off Liverpool by Dr. John R. Brinkley of Del Rio, Tex. The world record was set in 1935 by L. Mitchell Henry, English angler, who took an 851-pounder in the North Sea. He shattered the world record established in 1924 in Nova Scotio by Zane Grey.

The Nova Scotia grounds are said to be the most prolific in the world, 111 fish having been taken last season on rod and line at Wedgeport alone. Tuna weighing more than 1,100 pounds have been harpooned by commercial fishermen.

The present women's world record of 749 pounds was set in Jordan Bay, N. S., in 1936 by Mrs. Francis Low of New York.

Experts believe all tuna records will go by the boards in Nova Scotia this year as more anglers become experienced in handling these giants.

In addition to tuna record, Michael Lerner, of New York, last year set a new North American and Atlantic ocean broadbill swordfish record with a 601-pound fish caught off Louisburg in a four-hour battle.

DIDRIKSON AIMS FOR GOLF FINAL

"Babe" Looks Toward All Business Women Match With Helen Hicks

CHICAGO, June 16.—Those two young women to whom golf is a living, Helen (Billy) Hicks and Mildred (Babe) Didrikson, once again are plotting an all-"business women" final for the Women's Western Open championship tournament.

They missed it two years ago at Chicago's Sunset Ridge club by a margin of one round, each faltering in the semi-finals before the shooting of Mrs. Opal Hill of Kansas City, and Josephine Souchek of Chicago, respectively. They were still in the battle for the 1937 title today, and shooting impressively enough to rate chances of reaching the title round together.

The most brilliant shooting of the opening day of hand-to-hand tussels, however, was contributed by Mrs. Russell Mann of Milwaukee. Mrs. Mann, who as Lucile Robinson of Des Moines, Iowa, whipped Virginia Van Wie for the Western Closed title in 1933, for her last title, blasted out six birdies to defeat Mrs. Hill, the 1935 and 1936 tournament winner, 5 and 4. Mrs. Mann was out in 35 strokes, four under par, and dropped one stroke to par for the five incoming holes necessary.

Mrs. Burt Weil of Cincinnati, who won the medal with a fine 78 Monday, was among the missing today. She lost control of her putter and was eliminated by Paula Parker, 19-year-old Milwaukee blonde, whose margin was 5 to 4.

In today's outstanding matches, Miss Hicks faced Virginia Lindblad of Joliet, Ill., Miss Didrikson was matched with Mrs. Charles Denney of Chicago, and Mrs. Mann met Eva Shorb of Massillon, who advanced by trouncing Mrs. Isabelle Meany of Chicago, 6 and 4.

Beloit School Board Picks Two Teachers

BELOIT, June 16.—Miss Helen Martin and Miss Freda Zimmerman, both of whom reside near Athens, were added to the teaching staff of Beloit High school at a meeting of the school board. Six members of the present staff were re-hired.

The board deferred its selection of a music teacher until a later meeting. The faculty will be larger next term because of the addition of a number of new courses to the curriculum of the high school.

COUNCIL ASKED TO BOOST FORCE

Advisory Committee Recommends Two More Patrolmen

a playlot for west side children. President Cornwall named McArtor, Morris and Charles Rheutan as a committee to investigate the possibilities of converting part of the land for that purpose.

City Engineer F. S. Barckhoff explained the ground at one section could be leveled off with the aid of a steam shovel. The improvement, he added, would cost the city several hundred dollars. The council committee was instructed to confer with the engineer on the proposal.

Council passed an emergency ordinance authorizing the transfer of $578.34 from the water works fund to the pipe extension fund to provide payment of several hundred feet of pipe installed recently on East Tenth st.

Service Director Frank Wilson was instructed to advertise for bids for a new truck for the city service department. The recommendation came from A. P. Morris, chairman of the finance committee, and C. F. Zimmerman, chairman of streets, alleys and sidewalks committee.

Wilson asked council for a new truck two weeks ago, explaining the one now in use is beyond repair.

The sewers committee recommended a WPA project for the installation of a sewer extension on Home Circle.

WOMAN IN LINE FOR LABOR JOB

Rep. Mary T. Norton Entitled To Succeed Late William Connery As Committee Head

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 16. — The death of Rep. William P. Connery, Jr., (D.- Mass.) may place a second woman in an important government labor post.

Rep. Mary T. Norton (D.-N. J.) is entitled by seniority to succeed Connery as chairman of the house labor committee—a position which requires frequent conferences with Miss Frances Perkins, secretary of labor.

Mrs. Norton said she was too shocked, however, by Connery's unexpected death late yesterday from food poisoning to decide at once whether she would accept the chairmanship.

She would have to relinquish her position as chairman of the District of Columbia committee, which gives her the unofficial title of "Mayor of Washington."

If she chooses to retain her present post, the labor chairmanship will pass to Rep. Ramspeck (D.-Ga.) It is one of the key offices in congress at present because the committee is considering a broad wage and hour bill..

Connery was co-author of the wage and hour measure. During his 15 years in congress he sponsored many labor bills. He introduced in the house the Wagner Labor Relations Act, upheld last spring by the supreme court.

The 48-year-old representative became ill late Monday after returning from a speaking tour in Massachusetts. His wife started here when she learned of his illness, but was halted enroute by news of his death.

Connery and his wife once were partners in a vaudeville act. He also had been a theatrical manaer and a candy manufacturer.

Board Turns Down Alliance Proposal

ALLIANCE, June 16.—The county board of elections has rejected the petition of Alliance city for a special election for submission to the voters of a bond issue of $45,000 for street and sewer improvements as part of a WPA project..

Due to technical defects in the resolution, city council will be asked to reenact the legislation and the question then will be submitted to the voters, with the consent of the state tax commission, at the Aug. 10 primary.

Not Necessary

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—A frantic bride called the Rochester Gas and Electric corporation to complain that her new refrigerator "freezes ice cubes too fast."

Jack Sharkey, sales supervisor, said an electrician rushed to the scene and found ice cubes piled in every available pan, scattered all over the kitchen floor.

"I thought you had to take them out as soon as they froze," the bride told the electrician.

Seek WPA Approval

LEBANON, June 16.—Warren county commissioners said today they would seek Works Progress administration approval for a $2,000 channel widening project in the Little Miami river at South Lebanon.

Army Worms Arrive

COLUMBUS, June 16. — Army worms are on the march, invading wheat, rye and barley fields, T. H. Parks extension entomilogist at Ohio State university, warned today. He said the worms almost inactive last year, were most plentiful in western Ohio counties.

Fight Results

New York—Harry Balsamo, 160, New York, knocked out Jimmy Belmont, 160, Pittsburgh (10).

Chicago—Les Morris, 148, Milwaukee, drew with Harry Booker, 139, Chicago, (4).

Pittsburgh — Honeyboy Jones 159½, Pittsburgh, outpointed Vince Dundee, 159, Newark, N. J., (10).

Denver—Alabama Kid, 157½, Columbus, O., stopped George Nichols, 162½, Buffalo, N. Y., (4).

County Jail Rates For Sebring Fixed

SEBRING, June 16—The village of Sebring for the first time is under contract with Mahoning county commissioners for paying bills of prisoners sent to the county jail for violating village ordinances.

An agreement signed by Mayor F. M. Howell sets 48 cents a day as the rate Sebring will be charged for the feeding of each prisoner and 25 cents a week as the laundry bill per prisoner. These rates are the same that the village has been charged in the past but it has not been under contract to pay them. They also are the same as the amounts paid by the city of Youngstown.

Police Provide Few Tips For Folks Going Away On Summer Vacation

Take a few tips from Police Chief Ralph Stoffer if you are going away on a vacation and want your home looking natural upon your return, unmolested by possible visitations from burglars or tramps.

Don't pull the blinds down all over the house. This is a sure tip to burglars that the family is at the seashore, in the mountains or maybe just on a visit with relatives in the country.

Don't forget to have the milk delivery stopped. Also have th newsboy transfer your delivery your vacation spot. This can b done easily. A collection of bottle of milk souring on the front porc in the noonday sun is enough of tipoff for a burglar that all is saf —for him.

Go around the house and wri down the serial numbers on th radio, the electric sweeper, th washing machine, watches and a other articles bearing these identi fication marks. In case of burglary it will make it much easier for po lice to check pawn shops in cas the articles are disposed of.

Telephone the police station an leave your name and address, alon with your address during your va cation period and the time yo expect to return. Be sure to notif the department upon your return especially if it is earlier than ordi narily intended. Police, in th cruiser, will pay special attentio to your home at night while yo are away.

Leave your house looking a natural as possible from all outsid appearances. Check windows an doors to see that they are locked but don't forget the ordinary win dow fastener is a joke and tha sash pins are required to mak windows prowler-proof.

Would Boost Buying Among Low Incomes

WASHINGTON, June 16—Administration economists, spurred by President Roosevelt's re-statement of economic policy, sought methods today for generating greater purchasing power among low income groups.

Mr. Roosevelt told his press conference late yesterday that if the one-third of the population in the lowest income class could increase its buying power, it would accelerate the business machine generally.

This, he said, would boost the national income, speed the flow of tax revenue into the treasury, and bring the budget into balance.
